Want Artistic Street Names

Carmel streets are confoosin' but amoosin', but one local group would like to see the village street names changed, it was learned this week at the Planning Commission meeting.

A letter from the Current Literature Group asked the planners to consider changing of street names to honor famous artists and writers. They would have east and west streets named for poets and writers; north and south streets for artists. It was also suggested that the Eighty Acres Tract, where many literary personages lived at one time, be called Sterling Forest.

The planning commission suggested that provision for honoring artists and writers be made at some place such as the Carmel Library. Members felt present street names were well accepted and that the choice of artists for city street signs left too much room for debate.

REPUBLICAN GROUP MEETS TUESDAY

Although the June 3 meeting of the Republican Women of the Monterey Area has been cancelled, the group will get together at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday in Holman's Solarium, Pacific Grove, it was learned today. Plans for the June 6 primary elections will be discussed and a speaker has been scheduled.

PENINSULA TO SEE JET ASSISTED TAKEOFF DEMONSTRATION SATURDAY

A long range navy patrol plane, P2V, the same type as the famous "Truculent Turtle" which holds the world's record for distance, will be flown to the Naval Air Station at Monterey for a demonstration of jet assisted takeoff from the airport strip, scheduled for 2 p.m. on Saturday - Armed Forces Day.

The P2V plane, twin engined patrol bomber capable of carrying the atom bomb, has been developed for operations from aircraft carriers as well as long range land based patrol and antisubmarine work. It is the Navy's largest aircraft capable of operating off an aircraft carrier.

Jato, short for jet-assisted takeoff, allows large planes to get into the air in a relatively short runway distance. It consists of two power units attached to either side of the aircraft fuselage which are detached after the plane is in the air.

The U.S.S. LST 845 will be beached at the foot of Park Avenue in Monterey for public visiting between the hours of ten a.m. and five p.m. in conjunction with the Naval School Monterey "open house."

In answer to many queries, Robert W. Johnson, secretary of the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce, announced last week that the $1.50 tickets for the Armed Forces Day luncheon to be held at the Naval School, Monterey, at noon Saturday, are available to the general public at the Chamber of Commerce office in their community.

In Monterey, Pacific Grove, Salinas, Watsonville and Seaside an individual may buy or reserve his tickets for the luncheon through any service club of which he or she may be a member, or at the local chamber of commerce. In Carmel, the Carmel Business Association will handle this function.

Eight hundred people are expected to fill the main dining room of the Naval School, Monterey, to hear the principal speaker, Major General John R. Deane, USA (Ret). Prior to the beginning of the luncheon at 12 noon, the Monterey Union High School Band, 70 strong, will play light music for an hour in the lobby and lounge.

TICKETS FOR ARMED FORCES DAY LUNCHEON ($1.50 each) are on sale in Carmel at Balzer's Department Store, next to the Post Office. Luncheon will be held at the Navy General Line School in Monterey at 12 noon, Saturday, May 20.

What with all this talk about Carmel's (very real) parking and traffic problems, it is easy to imagine that dabbin', above, would not stay very healthy on thriving Ocean Avenue nowadays. This photo was taken 10 years ago by the Carmel Police department at a time when the horse was fairly safe on the village's main thoroughfare. We're running the picture just for the sake of Nostalgia.

CARMEL PARKING AMMENDMENT

The Carmel City Planning Commission gave its unofficial approval to an amendment of the city zoning ordinance Wednesday, taking the first step toward assuring adequate off street parking facilities for buildings to be constructed for apartments or multiple rental units.

The amendment refers to Section 995, Division 1, Part 1, of Carmel law, and states that apartment buildings must provide 66 2/3 percent of its units with parking facilities within the building site. It was suggested, however, that special cases for a lower percentage of garage space may be taken before the planners for consideration in instances where the law works an undue hardship on the builder.

The planners will refer the proposed amendment to the City Council and a public hearing will be arranged upon that body's approval.

In other business, the planners got into a long debate as to "when is a two-storey building a five-storey building?" The discussion started when Designer Eri Richardson, acting for Atherton Investment Co., of San Mateo, presented plans for a 12-unit apartment building at the hilly southeast corner of Junipero and Third.

Taking advantage of the steep property, and in order to assure an ocean view for all tenants, the building has been planned to rise in two-storey steps up the hill. The building conforms to the law in that it would be two storeys above grade, but planners felt that it actually would present the mass of a five-storey construction, violating the spirit of Carmel architecture.

City Building Inspector Floyd Adams thought that at one place on the Third Avenue side, the building would actually stand at three storeys, one too many in Carmel.

Although the planners agreed with the designer that 12 units was not too many for the size of the lot, they wanted to know why the proposed garages could not be placed underground, lowering the structure by one "apparent" storey. It would not work out either from the standpoint of design or economics, Mr. Richardson said.

After an hour of talk, it was decided to let Designer Richardson see what could be done with his design, while the planners thought the matter over.

The planners also approved plans brought in by Mayor Allen Knight for construction of a Comstock-designed building at the corner of Monte Verde and Seventh for a Christian Science Reading Room. The Building, drawn up in typical Carmel manner by Comstock, with adobe construction and shake roof, will go in next to Mayor Knight's Sundial Court.

PHOTOGRAPHERS WON'T COMETH

Plans for an invasion of 1500 bay area photographers to tour the Monterey Peninsula this weekend, taking part in a series of photo contests, were juked Wednesday afternoon when it was learned that not enough camera addicts had signed up for the trip, according to the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce. The group, made up of professional and amateur photographers, was to have toured local scenic spots and historical landmarks, and were sponsored by photographic firms and the Northern California Council of Camera Clubs.

$20,000 IN STOCK SOLD SO FAR IN PROPOSED CARMEL PLAYHOUSE

With a dozen days remaining in which to sell the necessary $50,000 in stock for construction of the proposed Carmel Playhouse, Mrs. Glenn Clairmonte, who is heading the drive, reports that the corporation has completed 40 percent of the job.

As this publication was going to press, about $20,000 worth of $25 preferred shares had been sold to local persons. Under an agreement with the State Corporation Commission, the backers of the new motion picture theater must sell $50,000 in preferred stock by May 31, or funds which have been collected will be returned to subscribers.

The idea behind the new playhouse makes it more than a business venture, Carmelites have been informed. The corporation seeks to establish a theater and legitimate playhouse to be run for "adult entertainment" in the same manner as the Golden Bough Playhouse, which burned to the ground a year ago. Edward Kuster, owner of two Golden Bough enterprises that went up in flames, will manage the new playhouse if it becomes a reality.

Temporary directors for the Carmel Playhouse are Mr. Kuster, president; Hugh Comstock, vice president; Jules Selcer, secretary-treasurer; Stanley Pedder, counsel; Remsen D. Bird, Jimmy Hatlo and Harold Nielsen. The large advisory board, members of which are entrusted with the selling of stock in the playhouse, includes many prominent Carmelites and peninsula residents.

SCHOOL REGISTRATION FOR CARMEL YOUNG 'NS

Registration for kindergarten and first grade students entering Carmel schools in September for the first time will be held today from 1 to 3 p.m. and on Monday from 8:45 to 11:15 a.m. Children living north of Ocean Avenue must register at Carmel Woods School; south of Ocean Avenue at the Sunset School lunchroom, according to Arthur C. Hull, principal of Sunset School.

Kindergarten children must be four and one-half years of age on or before September 1, 1950, while first graders must be five and one-half years of age on or before that date.

"In order for children to be assured of a place in September," Mr. Hull said, "and so we will know how many will be enrolling, we ask that parents come in on one of the two days mentioned. Please bring the child's birth certificate, or some official paper verifying date of birth as required by California law, and health record."

Mr. Hull said the registration takes about 30 minutes and asks parents to pass along information on the registration time and procedure to parents of children who should enroll.

Medal of Honor Winner

With the many retired military and naval personnel living in the Carmel area, the peninsula does not lack for war heroes, but an outstanding example of heroism was in Carmel last weekend and he can be expected to visit here often.

Arthur J. Jackson, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Jackson, of Carmel, performed the almost incredible feat of wiping out 12 pill boxes, single-handedly, and killing 50 Japanese soldiers during a day's action on the island of Peleliu back in 1944. He received the Congressional Medal of Honor the following year.

Now married and in the U.S. Army, young Jackson carried out his "beyond the call of duty" action as a private first class in the Marine Corps, later earning a commission as a second lieutenant in the field.

Using a Browning automatic rifle, Pfc. Jackson spearheaded his platoon on Sept. 18, 1944, in an attack that destroyed 40 enemy strongholds on the southern end of Peleliu. His method of assault has been described as "effectively simple." And it was.

He merely rushed ahead of his platoon - with or without rifle coverage - and sprayed the interiors of 12 Japanese pillboxes through the fire slits. Once, when his automatic weapon was shattered by a grenade, he used what was left of it to dispose of an attacking enemy soldier.

The Medal of Honor is a tribute rarely awarded to American fighting men, but October 4, 1945, found Lieutenant Jackson, with 13 other heroes, being decorated with the coveted star by President Harry Truman. He is now stationed in San Francisco where he expects to act as instructor for a high school ROTC program.

His parents, residents of Carmel for a year and one-half, are proud of his heroism, but few people have been aware of the connection - even though their son obtained nationwide publicity only a few years ago.

COUNCILMAN DISAGREES with CENSUS

Monterey is worrying about the census. It isn't so much a matter of civic pride -- but gas tax funds from the state are based on census figures -- and the present census probably will be the yardstick for the next 10 years.

City Manager Clyde A. Dorsey said each additional citizen was worth $5.46 a year to the city. He said census officials seemed to think there would be an official population around 12,000 for the city -- adding, "I won't go for that." Dorsey placed the figure at between 17 and 18 thousand.

Since the last census placed the population near 10 thousand, and several annexations have occurred since, his figure seemed reasonable.

Commented City Councilman Buck Russo -- "At that rate, if we keep on annexing, we'll have no one left in the city."

100 ATTEND PHILATELIC MEETING IN CARMEL

The Monterey Peninsula Stamp Club acted as host to the Council of Northern California Philatelic Societies for the quarterly meeting which was held Sunday in the cafeteria of Sunset School, Carmel.

Notwithstanding the fact that Sunday was Mothers' Day, approximately 100 stamp collectors and their friends attended. Among the prominent dealers of the state were: Harry E. Gray, of the Stamp Lounge, Oakland; Fred C. Hasing, Oakland, and Leland S. Stallings, of the Charles H. Pool, Jr., president of the Northern California Philatelic Societies of San Francisco, presided. The roll call showed a quorum present representing societies from Oakland, Berkeley, Vallejo, Sacramento, Stockton, Concord, San Jose and other California cities. Among these were: The China Stamp Club, Oakland Philatelic Society, Berkeley and East Bay Collectors, and The Pre Cancel Broncs from Prune Valley.

President Pool introduced Colonel John R. Wright, president of the Monterey Peninsula Stamp Club. Colonel Wright, in welcoming the guests, stated that the Monterey Peninsula Stamp Club has been organized one year and is the youngest member of the Northern Council. Wright called attention to the exhibit of frames of stamps arranged in the center of the room. Prominent among these were many frames of air mail stamps owned by Jesse Martin whose entire collection could fill one hundred frames. He owns 95 per cent of the 6,500 air mail stamps issued by all countries.

The outstanding exhibit was by Dr. E. T. Patee, of Pebble Beach. In the center of this frame was a reproduction of the painting "The Family and the Sick Child" by Sir Luke Fildes. Surrounding the picture was a collection of the Doctor issue of the stamp which depicted that picture: a plate block single; used block, pair and single mint block, pair and single, and a first day cover issued when the stamp came out in 1947.

Of striking interest was the fact brought out in an explanatory note at the top of the frame, that the doctor in the picture was Dr. Eliphilet Le Roy Patee, father of our local Dr. Eliphilet Thierer Patee, of Pebble Beach. The elder Patee was physician to the royal family when the artist, Sir Luke Fildes, requested him to sit for this painting. The other figures were wax dummies. The original painting hangs in Tate Gallery, London, England.

Another exhibit of local interest was that of Peter J. Ferrante, who specializes in stamps depicting ships. Ferrante has collected more than 400 of these "ship" stamps. Of these he exhibited two frames of German colonies and United States.

The SPECTRE

By CERF ANDSAND

We received a letter last week from Sidney Williams, of Carmel Valley, who informed us that the Tularcitos Fire Department has formed a new baseball team out yonder in the valley. His note touched off an "incident."

The new baseball team, Mr. Williams said, was to play the Catholic Youth Organization of Carmel on Sunday. Unfortunately the information reached us too late for publication.

On Monday, a reporter tried to call Mr. Williams to find out how the game came out. No answer.

He called Hugh Erwin, captain of the team. Not in.

He telephoned Wally Funke, team manager. Out to lunch.

Without calling Dell Redding, the team's bat boy, our newsman ran through a list of 15 members. He talked to wives, secretaries and business associates of the elusive 15, but he didn't catch the ear of anyone who plays baseball for the Tularcitos Fire Department. The reporter elicited from one wife (a rabid sports fan, no doubt) the news that the valley team lost its game on Sunday, but she didn't know the score. Nor could she tell him when the next game will be played.

We have a list of players, however: Joe Coehlo, Clarence Castro, Wendell Redding, Ed Mayfield, Pete Danielson, Boyd Danielson, Mac Henry, Leo Tanous, Boots Parsons, Johnny de Amaral, Ed Burns, Ed Burns, Ed Riddell, Bill Frisbee, Raymond Danielson and Mike Erwin.

Our problem is this: The reporter who made those telephone calls, not at all certain these men exist, is likely to become extremely inefficient, the publisher feels. Perplexed with visions of disembodied names, listed in the local telephone directory, he might take to attending seances or (horror) coloring his stories with dope from some astrologist's scratch book.

Assuming that he does adopt a realistic attitude toward the new baseball team (that is, believe that the players are flesh and blood), it's possible that he will lose all faith in that useful gadget, the telephone. Now, how can you run a newspaper with a reporter who won't use the phone?

Members of the baseball team can clear up a rather clouded condition by just giving us a call sometime this week...

BRAMBLETT INJURES KNEE IN FALL

Word was received from Washington this week that Congressman E. K. Bramblett, of Pacific Grove, is confined to the Georgetown Hospital with an injured knee. Bramblett fell Saturday on the steps of a government building, sustaining a sprained or torn knee. He was taken to Georgetown Catholic Hospital for X-rays and treatment. His physician said Bramblett would have to remain in bed for at least two days while extent of the injury was determined.

Changes in the plans for the congressman's campaign visit to his district were being made hurriedly early this week. The injury will curtail some activities, but Bramblett stated by wire that he will leave Washington as soon as the doctor releases him and will keep all possible engagements.

REGULAR MONTHLY VISIT OF BLOOD BANK SLATED FOR MAY 25

The regular monthly visit of the mobile blood bank will be held on Thursday, May 25, at the Monterey USO. In the absence of Mrs. Kent Parrot, Mrs. Gertrude Morehouse will be in charge of recruiting volunteers to assist the regular staff of nurses and doctors.

During the first four months of this year local hospitals have used 293 pints of whole blood, while only 230 have been collected locally.

The absence of surplus blood for community or national disaster is of the utmost seriousness, Red Cross officials state, as a backlog of plasma and whole blood derivatives is being urged by Civilian Defense in case of enemy attack.

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S

WHO IS IT?

Dr. William F. Coughlin, president of the Carmel Lions Club, is featured in this week's "Who Is It?" Born in 1900 at Hartford, Conn., he attended school there and took his pre-medical and medical training at Tufts Medical School in Boston. After interning in Boston, Dr. Coughlin stayed in that city for eight years, making his move to the West Coast in 1934, when he came to Vancouver, Washington. A fellow in the American College of Surgeons, the doctor specialized in gynecology and obstetrics, but has been a general practitioner since arriving in Carmel in 1938. Having visited the village in 1925 to see his sister, Mrs. George Fortier, the doctor's migration to Carmel was logical enough, although he says his wife was the one who finally talked him into moving here. The Coughlin's daughter, Jane, graduated from Carmel High School and is now in her third year at San Jose State College. The doctor spent five years in the service during World War II, entering as a captain and emerging as a colonel following duty at Fort Ord and in Europe. He was director and supervisor of all Ninth Air Force hospitals in the ETO. Besides heading the local Lions Club, he is a director of the Carmel Youth Center and has for the past three years been president of the Peninsula Male Chorus, which he joined when it first started. He belongs to the Serra Club and both the County and State Medical Societies, maintaining his membership in the Massachusetts Medical Society also. He reports that he likes to hunt and fish, but has had little time for either sport here. Weekends, he spends playing golf.

Monterey Symphony Concert

A nice performance on the part of Clifford Anderson and Lorell McCann, conductors, and the members of the Monterey County Symphony orchestra, Tuesday night, climaxed weeks of practice and preparation by this group of musicians. The concert, like others in their series, was a treat to music lovers and a boon to the cultural life of the peninsula.

An interesting highlight of the evening's program was the finale - Tone Poem in D Major, composed and led by Mr. McCann himself, interpreted as only a composer can interpret his own work. The composition is melodious and satisfying. The opening theme has a woodland quietness and expansiveness, given contrast by pizzicato notes from the strings - like sudden interrupting bird calls, a striking solo bit from the harp, and compelling emphases from the percussions. The new number received an enthusiastic response from the audience.

Another much appreciated number was the Air for English Horn and Orchestra, by Panton, conducted by Mr. Anderson. Melvin Buffo showed fine musicianship on the English horn, and there was a smoothness about the music which brought responsive applause. This followed and offered a contrast to Beethoven's Symphony No. 1 in C Major, the Menuetto and Adagio being more sympathetically interpreted than the first two movements. In the opening Allegro the strings were somewhat overpowered by the wind instruments.

Hulki Saner was guest soloist of the evening. His well trained baritone voice was enjoyed in a popular aria from Verdi's La Traviata, and was especially well adapted to the Turkish Lullaby which followed, the latter calling out a tenderness of quality and mellow smoothness which were pleasing. This Lullaby was scored by Composer-Conductor McCann.

Scarlet dress for afternoon.

By VERA WINSTON

TAILORED lines for dressy fabrics is one of the edicts of the new fashion season. And a good one it is for the many women who prefer line to lots of fuss. So, here we have double chiffon made up into a dress with a top that derives from a man's sport shirt. Witness the open neck, the cuffed short sleeves. Horizontal pin-tucking lends a nice touch to the bodice. The skirt is flared, and is gathered at the waist. Scarlet chiffon with black patent leather belt and accessories make a good color combination.

WATER PRESSURE

AND WATER VOLUME DEPEND UPON PIPE DIAMETERS

A water distribution system is engineered to regulate flow for full volume and satisfactory pressure, and pipe sizes are determined accordingly.

Builders of new homes should also "engineer" their piping systems in order to enjoy a plentiful supply of water with adequate pressure for both household and garden use.

Frequently the pipe installed between the meter and the house is too small, and unsatisfactory water flow results. Before it is too late consult your architect or builder about the pipe sizes required to fulfill the water needs of your new home.

NOS PETITS SECRETS

By Janine

Two of our friends have decided to take a trip to France in the near future. They came to see us one evening, all excited and happy, imagining already the wonderful time they would have. They had a lot of questions to ask, mainly about the cost of living in Paris. Then I realized that they, as well as many others, had no way of knowing. Maybe you won't be going to France, but I think you might like to know a little about it.

Being American you already have an advantage. Why? Because the official rate of exchange is now 35 francs to the dollar. This may not mean anything to you, but let me quote you some prices: A good hotel room, with bath, in a nice location, starts from $3.50 per day; in the de luxe hotels (Ritz, Crillon, Georges V and Plaza-Athenee) from $7 to $20. Add to these prices 20% for taxes and service. You have certainly heard about the Tour d'Argent (Silver Tower) and the famous Maxime's... Their meals average $10 to $15 a person, with wonderful wines.

But don't you think that half the fun of being in Paris is to find smaller restaurants with no tourist trade and much more atmosphere? Some of these smaller restaurants serve very good food for as little as $2 a person. Speaking of food, did you know that each part of France has its special way of cooking? Around Paris they use butter with which to cook their meals. But in the north and the east (Strasbourg) they prefer lard. If you go to Normandie you will find they don't want anything but fresh thick cream; and around Perigord, in the center of France, they claim that goose-fat is really the best. In Marseille and all along the Mediterranean coast olive oil is generally used.

If you like operas and good plays you will want to attend often, since a very good seat costs only about $2.50. Taxis are cheap... and you will pay only five cents for a metro ticket - first class, three cents in second class. Never before has your American dollar bought so much in France as now.

The dress parade of this summer's collections: The ligne is generally straight but made supple by pleats or panels. These give the necessary fullness, placing it in front, in back, or on the sides in such a way that the skirts always keep their narrow look.

NINA RICCI

The shoulders are natural, backs slightly blousing and waistlines well in place. Short sleeves, full or bell-shaped, are being shown... very often no sleeves at all. There is a definite return of printed silks with floral designs.

Congressman Nixon

LOCAL GOP'S TO HEAR NIXON ON MAY 25

Congressman Richard M. Nixon, candidate for U.S. senator, is the featured speaker at a meeting of local Republicans to be held at 8 p.m. Thursday, May 25, at Sunset School auditorium, Carmel. The meeting is sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Republican Women's Club and by the newly formed Monterey Peninsula Republican Assembly.

Nixon, now serving his second term as representative in Congress from the 12th California district, first became a candidate for that post immediately following war service in the Navy.

In Congress he served on the House Committee on Un-American Activities, and he has been credited for taking an important part in solving the Hiss-Chambers espionage case.

As a member of the House Committee on Education and Labor, Nixon played a part in drafting the Taft-Hartley Act in 1947. He also served as a member of the Heter Committee which investigated the operation of the European Recovery Program.

PG MAYOR APPOINTS PARKING COMMITTEE

Objections to the committee were voiced by City Councilman Pat Coleman, who felt it was made up of men who like parking meters and don't like center parking, but no one else commented.

In other business the council set July 5 for a public hearing on the new sidewalk district ordinance, which was explained by Attorney

Kenneth I. Jones, of San Francisco. The city of Pacific Grove will also take Monterey's lead by trying to check up on the census figures.

This action on the part of both cities is not expected to make any changes. Census officials told the SPECTATOR this week that their figures are about one half of one tenth of one percent in error - a figure which will not make any difference to anyone.

Prior to adjourning, Mayor Chapman appointed Roger Mathews mayor pro tem for the six weeks period that Chapman will be in the east. He left today.

Pacific Grove's hassle over parking and parking meters will receive the attention of a five-man committee appointed Wednesday night by Mayor William McC. Chapman. Serving as an informative body, the committee includes Roger Mathews, chairman, Dr. John Nelson, Stephen Magyar, James Rye and Frank Shropshire.

A new check book folds to the size of a book of matches. At that, it's probably bigger than some bank balances.

From 1792 to the end of 1949, the United States minted 319,502,294 pounds of coins. That, it goes without saying, is quite a pocketful of small change.

Parent Problems

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

IS IT good for the moral growth of a son or daughter while employed and living with the parents to take no financial obligations for the family? Is it fair to the parents?

Time was when many parents required working children in their teens to give their pay check to their parents who, in turn, at their own discretion, handed back to these children a portion of the wages. We are glad that time has passed. But in more recent years the pendulum has swung to the opposite extreme. Not only does the working youth who lives at home usually keep and manage his own earnings but he rarely contributes to the family finances, even enough to pay for his own food, laundry and the like. Often he uses the family car without paying for the gas. Sometimes his parents (even of moderate or very limited income) also buy part or all his clothing and give him pocket money.

One mother writes that her daughter in her twenties, earning over $3,000 a year, does not help at home, doesn't want to pay any board but spends all her salary on personal pleasures; that this daughter says none of her girl friends pay anything at home for board and keep. This mother also writes that her friends, who are parents in moderate financial circumstances, say they would not think of accepting anything from their working sons or daughters for board and the like.

Free Board

Apparently most parents suppose they should give their working children living at home free board and rooming and expect nothing from them; and most of these youths are sure this should prevail.

How has it come about that so many unmarried working youths living with their parents choose to be parasites on their parents and so many parents choose to be willing slaves of these youths? Perhaps the prevailing philosophy of child rearing is at the root of the matter. Has not parental responsibility been hammered into parents' heads and hearts with little or no emphasis on cultivating responsibility in the child?

A Few Suggestions

In many homes where there is this child-parent relationship of parasite-slave, respectively, not much may easily be done for correction because the matter is so deeply rooted. But to parents of children not nearly old enough to be employed, especially of children under six or eight, I venture to offer some recommendations:

1. Talk over in the family the reasonable rights and obligations of each member.

2. See that no member of the family receives an undue portion of the family income and that each learns to adapt his wants and expenditures to a reasonable budget and practices the principles of a good allowance plan. (My bulletins, "Allowances," and "How Teach Your Child To Help at Home," may be had in a stamped envelope sent me in care of this paper.)

4. When the child begins to earn, even part time, guide him in wise and reasonable budgeting of his earnings, making sure an adequate portion goes for his necessary purchases other than for mere pleasures.

5. When he is regularly employed see that he pays a portion toward his board and keep, or builds up an equivalent saving fund.

If the working son or daughter of well-to-do parents, living at home, does not practice in a wise plan of spending his earnings, he hardly has good training for later economic independence. More on this tomorrow.
